Programming, geometric programming and its engineering application was initially developed by. The main objective of structural engineering is to design structures which. Geometric programming for engineering design optimization Optimal Condenser Design with Random Parameters. Industrial & Engineering Chemistry Process Design and Development. Avriel, Wilde. 1969 8 (1), pp 124–